UM STUDENT FROM RONAN PUTS ACADEMICS TO WORK

MISSOULA --

Ronan resident Roian Matt, a graduate student at The University of Montana-Missoula, participated in a fall-semester internship program offered through UM's Center for Work-Based Learning.

The center provides opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students to integrate academic theories and principles with practical job experience related to their chosen fields.

Matt, an environmental studies major, did research and educational outreach for the Montana Conservation Voters. He graduated from Billings Central High School in 1990. He is the son of Camille Matt of Ronan.

UM's Center for Work-Based Learning serves about 2,000 students each year, placing them in internships throughout Montana, the United States and overseas in more than 35 fields of employment. For more information, visit the center's Web site at www.umt.edu/internships.
